Other (please specify)	Never consolidate w any other town, went through school merge and it was disastrous and economically not beneficial to one and lost identity of smaller town's school. They do not work well in the majority of cases that I have observed. Consolidations are inefficient, ineffective and create terrible animosities and loss of faith.

Other (please specify)	I really think that the whole issues of a business district has just been put off too long. Too much time and effort is being wasted and revenue is being lost by those who could have businesses open if the people would just stop nit picking every last facet of the whole idea. Knox has so little to offer anymore. If I need groceries I personally go to gallupville mostly because east berne is too far and the fox creek market sells so little I'm surprised they bothered to reopen it. The gallupville store generally has what I need and if not they are willing to order it. The owners have been trying to move the store to middleburgh to increase business, I guess at that point I will just have to go to hannafor in esperance. This is not just part of living in the hilltowns, it's just a damn inconvenience. My job takes me to many rural towns in the surrounding counties. I always take a minute to see just what each new area has to offer. Many of these towns are similar in size and character to knox accept that they have businesses. They provide services which benefit the residents and other travelers which promote pride and value. People need to have a reason to stop in and frequent a town. Right now they all just drive right through Knox, outside of the township tavern, thatcher park, and maybe a few farms why should they stop. It's sad. A bank, post office, gas station, senior living, bakery, car wash, restaurant all could be beneficial. But we can't have anything because people are too concerned with where it might be built. While your waiting they will be built in berne, schoharie, and westerlo and anywhere but knox and maybe that is what people want. Has anyone noticed how places are for sale? It's not like knox is going to grow to the size of altamont in the next 20 years. It is just so frustrating sometimes. Why do we have a survey or a vote or months of town meetings and debates? If folks have home based businesses, new or old, they should be able to operate them without the rest of the town saying whether or not they can make a living and where. As far as I've heard no has proposed a harmful industry or some giant condo complex. We are talking about simple business that we can all benefit from. So the best thing to do is just establish the district an allow the opportunity for expansion so that five years down the road we don't slam into this wall again.

Q. 34: What's with the wind power? The payback on the technology is not there without heavy subsidy. The technology is obnoxious to close neighbors. (And you worry about residential lighting?) Solar and geothermal make more sense and are better developed for the costs involved. Microhydroelectric? Where do you plan on getting the water power? The Bozenkill Falls? I'm big on hydroelectric, but we don't see the water power necessary in town. Maybe we can get Altamont to let us tap their reservoir and use the drop in water sent down to Altamont to spin a small turbine? We don't have a problem with outdoor burners. They appear to be cost effective and the technology (for lower discharges) is improving at reasonable costs. Q. 35e. We like the idea of providing at least initial support for a person to seek and apply for grants. We would certainly be willing to use tax dollars to investigate this opportunity. We do feel, however, that the term of pending tax dollars should be limited to several years (certainly no more than 3-5). At that time we should review how much we have gotten versus how much we have invested. If we are not getting back the person's salary (and perks) we need to come up with another strategy. Q. 35t: Let's see here, are you asking if the members of the highway department should be elected? Or are you asking if the Town officials should be elected? Obviously many of the appointed positions in town would not benefit by requiring the incumbents to be reelected on a regular basis. We would settle for posting of ALL appointed positions so that interested parties could apply. Do we think the Town Board should appoint people to fill their vacancies? We'd probably like to see an election, even if you had to run a special election, to fill these kinds of positions.

I appreciate the efforts of all involved with the development of this survey. It covered extensive ground and surely represents hours of brain storming and idea gathering. However, I fear potential misuse or misinterpretation because of the format used. Questions 10, 17, 23 and 30 were qualifiers for the ideas listed below them. I know very few people that are 100% in favor of everything or folks that are against 100% of all ideas presented. Unfortunately, the only way a respondent could clarify what they were in favor of or could accept for the town was to answer "yes." That's a problem. That response implies (if you look no further than the question itself), that the respondent is in favor of more Town involvement without limitation. That's statistics, a sneaky way to manipulate input to get desired results. Each idea listed under those questions deserved to be considered on their own merit. They were grouped in a fashion that made sense and were worded very concisely and clearly. The average taxpayer should experience no difficulty in understanding what each proposed idea means in terms of cost and potential change. I feel the survey would have been more open minded if questions 10, 17, 23 and 30 were removed entirely allowing the respondednt toi weigh in on each individual idea presented. Personally, I answered yes to those questions when in general and on most of the ideas listed below, I am NOT in favor or supportive. I can only hope that the results from my responses will not reflect my being in favor of more Town oversight and regulatory restrictions.
