Q12: What role does agriculture have in Knox?

Very important. Many horse lovers and livestock throughout. Gardens and hay production, too. Agriculture is a large part of one reason that people like living here.

Q13: Does your family buy any agricultural products directly from farmers in Knox?

If Yes, what kinds? Eggs.

Q14: Would your family be interested in buying more locally grown agricultural products?

If Yes, what kinds?
 Organic: Hay, eggs, fruits & veggies, meats.

Q15: Would you pay local farmers extra to support sustainable, organic agriculture and produce?

No,
 Comments: Not 'extra', but a fair price.

Q16: Should the Town continue the "One Cut Rule" (allows subdivision of a parcel every 18 months)?

Comments:
 I would have to know the purpose of the rule vs. expected outcome of no longer having the rule.

Q17: Should the Town promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming?

Yes (please continue to question # 18)

PAGE 4: Agricultural Issues

Q18: If Yes to Question 17, should the Town use these zoning changes and other measures?

Q12: What role does agriculture have in Knox?

Heavy and is making a comeback. The Amish certainly are looking into our area and have contacted us for lumber as well as land. They restore our old farmhouses/restore the lg. Dutch barns and will bring a new life to the farming community if they continue to be interested in moving in.

Q13: Does your family buy any agricultural products directly from farmers in Knox?

If Yes, what kinds?
 Maple, honey, fresh produce and beef, chicken

Q14: Would your family be interested in buying more locally grown agricultural products?

If Yes, what kinds?
 Organic and free range all products

Q15: Would you pay local farmers extra to support sustainable, organic agriculture and produce?

Yes, always,
 Comments:
 Having multiple chemical sensitivity and now autoimmune allergic response to 90% of food, this is critical to raise public awareness that GMO produced food and triggers for genetic autoimmune illnesses related to food are on rise. We need more locally grown, natural foods.

Q16: Should the Town continue the "One Cut Rule" (allows subdivision of a parcel every 18 months)?

Yes,
 Comments:
 Many of our elder farm families need to live off of their heritage and only retirement means possible, it is necessary if we want them to stay in area as many have left due to excessive restrictions in neighboring towns and counties.

Q17: Should the Town promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming?

Yes (please continue to question # 18)

PAGE 4: Agricultural Issues

Q18: If Yes to Question 17, should the Town use these zoning changes and other measures?

Promote agri-tourism (Bed & Breakfasts, dude ranches, u-pick farms, etc.) Yes

Allow farms to open retail shops, cafes, etc. to increase income Yes

Promote agri-businesses that support farms, such as veterinarians, food or other produce processing facilities, farm machinery dealers Yes

Allow and promote small-scale, on-farm processing facilities, such as small slaughterhouses and composting operations Yes

Create an Agricultural Committee to promote agricultural interests in Knox Yes

Facilitate programs that help families preserve their land for future generations, e.g. Purchase or Transfer of Development Rights, conservation easements Yes

What other measures could the Town take to encourage farming? Create a social services network for farmers, elder care resources, elder care homes, housing and Veterans assistance for housing projects or someone to work on grants so that they can come back to the Hilltowns and do the farming that they grew up with as the Town brings back farming. Encourage Amish connections w OH and PA groups that are looking for land up here and seek them out to bring quality people w hard work ethics and desire to treat the land in its natural way it was intended and promote the idea of agribusiness and be friendly to it

Q12: What role does agriculture have in Knox?

It plays an important role. The WHOLE town should be zoned agricultural. The town government has no right to tell someone they can't have more than 15 chickens on their 2+ acres. That is one of the laws that doesn't make sense. I live near one person with 1/2 an acre, who can have any number of chickens, however right across the street a home owner with 5+ acres can't because he's zoned residential. STUPID!!! Zoning laws should make sense, many of Knox's do not. Makes residents think very little of those in charge. Can't wait for the next election!!

Q13: Does your family buy any agricultural products directly from farmers in Knox? If Yes, what kinds? none of your business

Q14: Would your family be interested in buying more locally grown agricultural products? If Yes, what kinds? whatever is available.

Q15: Would you pay local farmers extra to support sustainable, organic agriculture and produce? No,
 Comments:
 I'll pay for their goods. I have to pay my own taxes, which are outrageous!

Q16: Should the Town continue the "One Cut Rule" (allows subdivision of a parcel every 18 months)? Yes,
 Comments:
 In fact, it should be every 12 months or whenever they want, since, again, what I do with my land is not the town government's decision. I'll notify them, as a courtesy, but then shouldn't get to dictate what I do and when.

Q17: Should the Town promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming? Yes (please continue to question # 18)

Promote agri-businesses that support farms, such as veterinarians, food or other produce processing facilities, farm machinery dealers	Yes
Allow and promote small-scale, on-farm processing facilities, such as small slaughterhouses and composting operations	Yes
Create an Agricultural Committee to promote agricultural interests in Knox	No
Facilitate programs that help families preserve their land for future generations, e.g. Purchase or Transfer of Development Rights, conservation easements	No
What other measures could the Town take to encourage farming?	The town needs less restrictions. There are small land owners <25 acres who want to do more, but can't because their properties are zoned residential.

Q12: What role does agriculture have in Knox?

It should remain important

Q13: Does your family buy any agricultural products directly from farmers in Knox?

If Yes, what kinds? Some vegetables

Q14: Would your family be interested in buying more locally grown agricultural products?

If Yes, what kinds? Fruits if available

Q15: Would you pay local farmers extra to support sustainable, organic agriculture and produce?

Yes, sometimes,

Comments:

Successful farming is sustainable. "Organic" is a mixed bag, totally "organic" is not efficient. As noted all successful farming is sustainable. If farmers didn't rotate crops, etc. they wouldn't be farming for very long. Everything that grows is organic. "Organic" is today's buzzword for folks who want to pursue 19th century farming technology. All of this is fine if you want to use dated technology. Unfortunately without synthetic fertilizer and other modern technology we would be starving today. We continually add population and decrease arable land. Traditional 19th century technology will not allow us to survive. Let's be reasonable and consider farming as farming and not get into what a limited number of folks, who don't farm commercially, want farmers to practice on their land. The right to farm should be protected by government not dictated by government. Clearly our forefathers, who so elegantly formed the basis of our freedoms and country, were primarily farmers. Do you think they would have wanted an intrusive government that told them how to farm their land?

Q16: Should the Town continue the "One Cut Rule" (allows subdivision of a parcel every 18 months)?

No

Q17: Should the Town promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming?

Respondent skipped this question

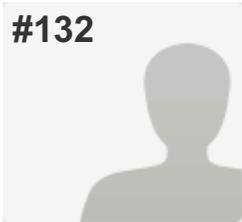

PAGE 4: Agricultural Issues

Q18: If Yes to Question 17, should the Town use these zoning changes and other measures?

What other measures could the Town take to encourage farming?

Q. 17 is a tough yes or no question. It's like asking if you support motherhood. Active farms should be supported. Promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming? Are you asking if we should encourage more people to open farms? That's for owners of adequate pieces of land to decide. Farming is a tough way to earn a living. You ask a number of sub-questions (to only be answered if you support motherhood, uh, make that promote development...) We are not opposed to farmers opening small businesses to help them earn a living. We're not exactly sure what a Bed and Breakfast has to do with farming. Should the Town create an Agricultural Committee? This sounds like a good idea if: (1) the committee consists of actual working farmers and not just folks with reasonable acreage claiming "farm" deductions and purporting to be farmers (2) the actual working farmers have sufficient time to donate to such a committee.

PAGE 3: Agricultural Issues

Q12: What role does agriculture have in Knox?

Keeps large tracts of land from being developed, preserving open space.

Q13: Does your family buy any agricultural products directly from farmers in Knox?

If Yes, what kinds?

Syrup, jack o lantern pumpkins, vegetables

Q14: Would your family be interested in buying more locally grown agricultural products?

If Yes, what kinds?

More vegetables, greens, esp. organic or non-GMO

Q15: Would you pay local farmers extra to support sustainable, organic agriculture and produce?

Yes, always,

Comments:

Need to reduce use of pesticides, GMOs and preserve Ag. soils for food production.

Q16: Should the Town continue the "One Cut Rule" (allows subdivision of a parcel every 18 months)?

No,

Comments:

It chops up large parcels and promotes sprawl.

Q17: Should the Town promote development in a way that encourages use of land for farming?

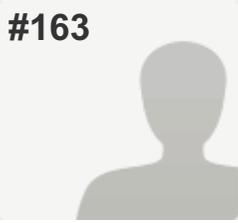

Yes (please continue to question # 18)

PAGE 4: Agricultural Issues

Q18: If Yes to Question 17, should the Town use these zoning changes and other measures?

Promote agri-tourism (Bed & Breakfasts, dude ranches, u-pick farms, etc.)	Yes
Allow farms to open retail shops, cafes, etc. to increase income	Yes
Promote agri-businesses that support farms, such as veterinarians, food or other produce processing facilities, farm machinery dealers	Yes
Allow and promote small-scale, on-farm processing facilities, such as small slaughterhouses and composting operations	Yes
Create an Agricultural Committee to promote agricultural interests in Knox	Yes
Facilitate programs that help families preserve their land for future generations, e.g. Purchase or Transfer of Development Rights, conservation easements	Yes
What other measures could the Town take to encourage farming?	Build a pavilion for a farm market to encourage agricultural commerce.
